Now Man Wants to Get His

DRINKS COST $10 PER ROUND

"Party" with Vaudeville Actresses
Costs Mill Worker Over $1,000.
Bought 400 Pints of Champagne in
Two Days, He Tells Court. Girls
Are Freed—Spent All but 40 Cents.

Utica, N. Y., Jan. 14.—John Weigel, fifty years old, a mill operator, in the City Court this afternoon was complaining against two New York vaudeville actresses, who helped him drink nearly $1,000 worth of domestic champagne in a two-day booze jubilee. The girls are Daisy Barrow and May Carter, and they were charged with working a flimflam game on him and relieving him of $500 of the $1,075 he had in his possession.

The girls denied the charge, and claimed that Weigel spent all but 40 cents of his $1,075 for drinks. The 40 cents Weigel found in his pockets when he awoke from a sleep, which, he insisted, was brought about by drugs.

The scene of Weigel's costly experience is a concert and dance hall, and when he entered the place last Wednesday night he had $7 in his clothes. He was charged more than $100 for drinks for the girls that evening. He borrowed $25 from the proprietor, putting up his watch as security. Weigel went to the bank Thursday forenoon and drew all his savings and hurried back to the concert hall, and remained there until last night, when he found himself with only 40 cents.

Drinks $10 Per Round.

"I wrapped $50 in a handkerchief and put it in my inside pocket," Weigel swore. "I intended to put that in another bank. We drank cocktails, wine, whiskey, and beer. The drinks were $10 a round. The waiter would take the glasses and bottles of the table before we touched the drinks, carry them out of the room, come back with more drinks, and collect $10 from me again."

"I bought May a bracelet. I paid $10 toward it, and she added $9. Daisy complained that I was showing favoritism and I gave her $9 to keep her in good humor. Before I left there they told me I had bought Daisy a trunk, too. I don't remember about that. They probably sold it to me when I was asleep."

Samuel Gutstadt, proprietor of the place, swore that Weigel ordered nearly 400 pints of wine for the girls in two days, though Weigel himself drank mostly beer. Gutstadt accused the complainant of cheating after trying to be a live sport.

City Magistrate O'Connor discharged the girls on the grand larceny charge, but held them in $1,000 bail each as witnesses before the grand jury, which will make an investigation of the case. "It is preposterous to assume that this man could spend more than $1,000 in this resort in two days," said the court. "Why, he could not do that in the Waldorf-Astoria in New York."

NEW ORLEANS LOGICAL POINT.

Y. M. C. A. Debaters Decide Against San Francisco.

New Orleans was decided to be the most advantageous place to hold the Panama Exposition in 1915 by the debaters of the Y. M. C. A. last night. Delegations from New Orleans and San Francisco were present and listened with interest to the lively debate on the question. "Resolved, That New Orleans is the more logical place to hold the Panama Exposition than San Francisco."

The affirmative side was argued by H. A. Fordham and P. W. Ashbaugh, while E. S. Campbell and M. E. Anderson upheld the negative side.

Next week preliminaries will be held to select a team to debate the Y. M. C. A. of New York City, which will be held in New York about April 12.

Would Enjoin Druggist.

Declaring that Philip G. Affleck had broken the terms of an agreement whereby he was to purchase certain cigarettes and to display them in the window of his store at the corner of Fifteenth and P streets, Christo Nicolaides, who conducts a cigar and cigarette store at 125 P street, has asked the District Supreme Court through his attorneys to enjoin Mr. Affleck from selling cigars and cigarettes at his drug store.

Promotion for Charles A. Kline.

The Southern Railway announces the appointment of Charles A. Kline as assistant general passenger agent, with office at 125 Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, D. C., effective January 15. This is a promotion for Mr. Kline, who has been formerly chief clerk, then chief clerk of the passenger department of the Southern Railway, and has been with the company about fifteen years.

NEW STORE TO BE OPENED SOON.

Improvements at F and Thirteenth streets.

Joseph Schenker, formerly manager of the Lurvey, has taken a ten-year lease of the three-story building at the northwest corner of F and Thirteenth streets, in which he will conduct a woman's garment store.

In addition to the annual rental of $500, Mr. Schenker will expend upward of $20,000 in improvements that will convert the building into a modern store, according to designs furnished by Julius Wenig, architect.

The whole interior of the building will be changed and attractive facades will be added to the front and side of the building, so as to supply show space for goods in both F and Thirteenth streets. These improvements will, it is expected, be completed in time to open the establishment on March 1.

The R. J. Reall Construction Company has the work in hand, and began operations last week. The designs show that when completed this will make an attractive addition to the business buildings in this locality.

NEW HOMES IN NORTHWEST.

Houses Near Kalorama Road an Example of Good Values.

As an illustration of the high class houses at low price that are being constructed in Washington, and as further emphasizing the fact that building operations can be conducted cheaply in this city during the winter months, the row of nine-room residences in Nineteenth street, northwest, between Kalorama road and Belmont street, may be cited.

One of these, sold during the week to a private party as a residence, with a frontage of twenty-one feet, a deep lot, supplied with hot water heat, electric lights, and trimmed in white and mahogany, was sold at a less price than similar homes in the same suburbs. It is understood that the Syrett W. Hendrick Company, real estate brokers, were agents in the sale reported.

SALES IN NORTHWEST.

Week's Transactions Reported by Boss & Phelps, Inc.

Sales were closed by Boss & Phelps, incorporated, during the past week as follows:

For Henry Sheely, the large brick building at the corner of Eleventh and V streets, with a brick stable in the rear. It was purchased by a local business man.

For Kennedy Bros., 187 Lamont street, to a government official.

For Ann Wright, premises 106 Eighth street, a ten-room dwelling. Purchased by Jennie Hickling.

For R. B. Parker, the large brick residence at 125 S street, to H. J. Mattingly.

For George W. Cook, a new brick residence at 239 New Hampshire avenue, to be occupied by the purchaser, John H. Lakin.

V STREET APARTMENT SOLD.

Stone & Fairfax Sell Northwest Property to Investor.

One of the most important transactions of the week was the sale reported by Stone & Fairfax, incorporated, real estate brokers, of the likely apartments, in U street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets northwest. The property was purchased by O. T. Martin, an out-of-town capitalist, who acquired it as an investment. The likely apartment house contains fifteen apartments of five and six rooms, and it commands an annual rental of $1,000.

The property was sold for Harry Chaney, the consideration being $45,000. In the same connection Charles P. Stone, president of Stone & Fairfax, incorporated, said yesterday that his firm has had more inquiries within the past month for desirable investments in property in Washington than they ever have had during any corresponding period. Apartments in this city seem to be in particular favor with the investors from other cities, and real estate brokers generally have found much success in making sales of apartments to this class of buyers.

LACK OF GRASS-FED CATTLE

Butchers Claim It Costs More to Produce Beef from January to June. Shipments of Fish Low, While Oyster Supply at Eleventh Street Wharves Is Meeting the Demand.

Retail prices which prevailed last week in meats, vegetables, and fruit were higher than in any corresponding period in years. The high price of meat is due to the lack of grass-fed cattle, according to local butchers. This is to be expected, they claim, every year from early January until June, as it costs more to produce beef in this time than during the months when the cattle can be fed on grass.

The high price of vegetables, the produce merchants say, is due to frosts in the South. Potatoes, which a month ago sold for 80 cents a bushel, now sell for 35 cents. Tomatoes, which seldom go over 20 cents during the winter months, are selling at 40 to 60 cents. Eggplants are selling at 35 and 40 cents. String beans are selling at $1.20 a peck. Apples are selling at 60 cents a peck.

Prime rib roasts sold yesterday at 15 cents a pound, chuck roasts 11 cents, sirloin steak 25 to 30 cents, and porterhouse steak 25 cents. Lamb remains stationary, but pork has advanced from 1 to 2 cents a pound, now selling for 15 and 16 cents.

Prices of butter, eggs, and cheese remain steady.

Supply of Fish Is Low.

Shipments from the South Atlantic and Gulf coast fisheries have been few, and as a consequence prices are higher. For the first time in weeks the oyster supply has met the demand, there now being about 200 bushels on hand at the Eleventh street wharves. They range from 90 cents to $1.00 per bushel.

Shipments of Potomac bass will arrive to-day and to-morrow. Spanish mackerel caught only in the Gulf of Mexico are plentiful, big supplies of them coming from Mobile, Pensacola, New Orleans, and Galveston. Snapper sells for 10 and 14 cents per pound. Pompano, mullet, and blacker average 15 cents per pound.

TAFT ACCEPTS BID TO DINE.

Will Be Guest of Gotham Newspaper Men January 21.

President Taft will be a guest of the New York Press Club at an annual dinner in the Hotel Marlborough-Sutton, January 21. He will leave here on Saturday afternoon, reaching New York in time to attend the dinner of the Pennsylvania Club in the Hotel Astor. After making a speech there he will be hurried to the Press Club banquet and spend the remainder of the evening with the newspaper men.

FENCES WILL COME DOWN.

Barriers in Public School Yards to Be Removed.

By the order of Supt. Stuart, the fences that separate the boys and girls in the city schools are to be taken down immediately. Mr. Stuart said there was no reason for such a separation, as they were together in the school rooms. "Never will boys and girls be separated in any stage of the education," he said. The school or at play. They are not separated in the home, and they should not be in the school or social functions," said Mr. Stuart.

NEWS OF THE RED MEN.

The past grand sashem of the Improved Order of Red Men, G. Harry White, of New York, will be the guest of honor and make the opening address at the Red Men's social and public entertainment at Typographical Temple Tuesday night.

Grand Junior Sashem John M. Kemper, chairman of the committee, has prepared an elaborate literary and musical programme, and a large attendance of the local members of the order and their friends is expected.

PETITION ACCUSES C. J. RIXEY

Declares Examiner Discovered that He Had Embezzled $50,000 of Money and Property of Corporation—More Witnesses Summoned to Appear Before Grand Jury Probe.

A. S. DONIPHAN, News Agent.
KING AND COLUMBUS STS.
Alexandria, Va.

The Washington Herald delivered to any address in Alexandria at the following rates:
Daily and Sunday... 40c per mo.
Daily only... 25c per mo.

Alexandria, Va., Jan. 14.—A petition for the appointment of additional receivers for the Virginia Safe Deposit and Trust Corporation was filed in the Corporation Court to-day by Commonwealth Attorney S. G. Brent, for S. R. Donahoe, State auditor; also instigating suit for the recovery of $15,200.53 belonging to the State of Virginia and which had been deposited with the defendant corporation by Thomas W. Robinson, city treasurer.

It is set forth in the petition that the corporation commission on December 8, 1910, advised the corporation and directors that the securities had been impaired and notified them that unless the same were made good within twenty days the commission would place the institution in the hands of receivers.

That the commissioner of insurance had notified C. J. Rixey, that the developments showed that the corporation was not solvent, and directed him to issue no new bonds or to renew others.

That C. J. Rixey and John S. Barbour were successful in their efforts to have the order withdrawn.

That the corporation was insolvent a long time prior to December 24, 1910. That the corporation could have been known from an examination of its books.

That the law requires the cashier to make statements every three months, the directors to examine the same and ascertain their truth.

That the law had not been complied with, and everything turned over to C. J. Rixey.

That said C. J. Rixey overdraw his account $2,633.23, and to secure and make good the overdraft took $50,000 of the money and property of the corporation without giving note or security; also that he had issued to said corporation a check for $50,000 of the said corporation without paying a dollar for the same, disposing of his stock from time to time until $4,400 was left in his name.

That 6 per cent interest was paid investors in the corporation, which had made no such profits, which fact was known or could have been known by the directors.

That the bank examiner discovered that Rixey had wrongfully appropriated and embezzled $50,000 of the money and property of the corporation and communicated the fact to the directors, November 23, 1910.

That Rixey acknowledged to a committee of the corporation that the entry crediting him with $50,000 was in his own handwriting.

The petition prays that Rixey and the board of directors of the defendant corporation be made parties to the suit, and should the assets prove inadequate to meet the State's claim that they may be made to pay the deficiency.

Among those who were summoned to-day to appear before the grand jury which will Thursday next probe the affairs of the Virginia Safe Deposit and Trust Corporation, are Joseph Burton, commissioner of insurance; R. T. Wilson, clerk of corporation commission; C. E. Street, State auditor; and others.

There were no new developments to-day in the failure of the Mercantile Railway Building and Loan Association, which institution was placed in the hands of Douglas Stuart and Lewis Hooff, as receivers, on Friday last.

In the Circuit Court for this city to-day, in the case of F. F. Marbury and others against the Mercantile Railway Building and Loan Association, a decree was entered providing for the taking of testimony in vacation.

In the Corporation Court to-day Attorney Monroe, Wampler, and Goth, of Alexandria County, filed a petition in the case of Mary E. Lewis and others against Robert H. Coward that Thursday next at 10 o'clock in the Corporation Court they would renew the motion pending for the appointment of a receiver for the Virginia Safe Deposit and Trust Corporation. The court has already heard the motion and deferred action in the matter, hence the renewal of the application.

Wit and humor prevailed this afternoon at the annual banquet of the Bar Association of the Sixteenth judicial circuit. C. Vernon Ford, of Fairfax, newly elected president of the association, acted as toastmaster and made a most admirable one. The speeches and toasts responded to were short. Several bachelors present were also called upon to explain why, and many funny reasons were given for being in the land of single blessedness.

Prior to the banquet the annual meeting of the association was held at the office of Col. Francis L. Smith. He read a paper on the acquisition of territory in the State of Virginia by the Federal government, in which he opposed the measure.

The election resulted as follows: C. Vernon Ford, president, Fairfax; John M. Johnson, Alexandria; R. Gordon Thornton, Davis, Prince William County, and E. Thornton, Prince William County, vice presidents; J. Randall Caton, Jr., secretary, Alexandria; R. D. Brumback, treasurer, Alexandria; G. L. Boothe, Alexandria; C. L. Montgomery, Alexandria County; John S. Barbour, Fairfax, and R. A. Hutchinson, Loudoun, executive committee.

Dr. Ennon G. Williams, commissioner of health of Virginia, will deliver a lecture, January 24, in the Young People's Church South, under auspices of the local branch of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society.

$4,550 $300 CASH $20 Per Month

A decided departure from the stereotyped style of houses have been looking at—MORE COMFORT—BETTER VALUE. Some new and charming features.

An entrance is through two full length glass doors of handsome design; the reception hall, colonial in finish, is furnished with a hall seat and an ample closet. The parlor and dining room are tastefully finished, the latter having a broad twin window, giving a most pleasing appearance. The kitchen is fitted out in the most approved style, a splendid range with elevated oven. Adjoining is the pantry, almost a room, generous, well equipped with shelves and drawers.

The second floor contains three bedrooms, four closets, and a bath equipped with the best of fixtures.

Other features include doors with ground glass panels, artistic and out of the ordinary fixtures, hot-water heat, a dining room, a most agreeable departure from the flat tin roof. This affords ample attic space, the attic being completely floored and ventilated.

Another most important item: The first trust is to run for FIVE YEARS at FIVE PER CENT. Reasonable terms.

WOULD FIX COST OF PHONES

Charles W. Darr Will Ask Chamber of Commerce for Law.

System of Street Car Transfers Will Also Be Considered at Next Meeting.

Charles W. Darr will ask the Chamber of Commerce to consider, at its February meeting, a law to regulate the charge for business telephones within the District. This question has been the subject of long and expensive litigation, and it is now proposed to make the price for a one-party business telephone $60 a year, and for a two-party service, $84 a year.

As the law restricting overcharge has no penalty provision, the present suggestion is that excessive charge be punishable by a fine of not less than $100 more than the actual rate. Another question to come before the Chamber is the consideration of a provision for a system of street car transfers that will make these interchangeable by the several lines of the District.

It is proposed to offer a first prize of $50 and a second of $25 for essays on the subject, in order to gather the strongest possible arguments in favor of the plan. It will be proposed that the judges in this competition will be drawn from the staffs of local newspapers.

VIVISECTION, 'THE BLACK ART.'

English Authorities Claim More Harm Than Good Comes of It.

A specter stalks the land and casts its shadow over the fairest scene. This specter is vivisection, and it is the purpose of the Society for Humane Control of Vivisection to down it and banish forever reckless methods which are a disgrace to civilization.

In a pamphlet by Hon. Stephen Coleridge published in 1888 in connection with the National Anti-Vivisection Society, London, England, it is spoken of as the "black art." After a careful enumeration of the statistics covering a definite period of years obtained from the returns of the registrar general in England, Mr. Coleridge says: "The registrar general records his dispassionate facts and proclaims to the world that wherever the hand of the vivisectionist is stretched over a disease, there that disease increases its hold upon life and hurries man faster to the tomb; and that whenever the sickened earth has been tended beyond the reach of the vivisectionist, there, more and more, have the maladies that afflict mankind yielded to the ministrations of the kindly physician. It would seem, therefore, that the world would be better had the vivisectionist never been born. Held fast in a horrible fascination, these savers and delvers into living dogs will not let their eyes from the trough that holds their mangled victims and perceive that the dreadful work with which they fill their days is repugnant to every noble sentiment of the human mind. Nor will they permit themselves to recognize that every noble science, though it may tell us perhaps that heaven is only of earth, yet assures us nevertheless that it is good to look upon."

This being true, the question arises, What is to be done to bring about a reform? The answer: Nothing more or less than a national law, strictly enforced, for governmental control of all laboratories and vivisectioning rooms, whether they be in colleges, hospitals, or private sanatoriums, and as England passed a few years ago, under which that country has reaped untold benefits, with increased advantages to science.

Many of the leading professional and scientific men of the day openly denounce the practice of vivisection upon the living animal as both inhuman and unnecessary.

The Washington Society for Humane Control of Vivisection was organized some two years ago, under the presidency of Thomas Nelson, and has been in operation with prominent men and women representative of every walk in life. Great enthusiasm marked its incorporation, and Dr. Ernest Smith, one of the most active members, preached a stirring sermon upon the responsibilities of "man's dominion" with the determination of arousing interest among church members especially, and making efforts to the influencing of other resident reformers in the same line, believing that the betterment of present conditions depended mainly upon the persistence of the people in demanding legislation for the permanent establishment of a system of humane regulations that would enforce the open door in every institution in the country.

At a recent meeting of the society the question as to the very best way of securing this much-desired result was discussed at length and an agreement reached to push the matter through the medium of press and pulpit.

Were the true story of the atrocities daily committed and permitted under our very nose, through a mistaken belief in its betterment of human life, to be made public the facts would be discredited. Yet the society is in possession of firsthand information sufficient to stir up a protest that every Christian man and woman would unite in an organized effort for reform.

Not until legislative action be enforced and inspectors appointed for humane methods in the administering of anesthetics and the proper chloroforming of the unfortunate animals sacrificed before restoration to consciousness may the society hope for success or the shadow be lifted from the land.

ARMED AS WIFE'S ASSAILANT.

James A. Adams Accused of Trying to Poison Woman.

Charged with assaulting his wife by trying to make her swallow carbolic acid, James A. Adams, an employe of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, will be given a hearing to-morrow morning in Police Court. His wife, Mrs. Sarah E. Adams, lives at 1215 North Carolina avenue northeast.

The couple have been separated for several months. Adams went to the house yesterday, he claims, to try to effect a reconciliation. Shortly afterward Mrs. Adams' screams attracted several neighbors, who summoned Policemen Hill. Mrs. Adams ran to Hill and begged his protection.

Her dress and her husband's clothing were burned by acid, and an empty vial labeled "carbolic acid" was found on the floor. Adams admitted that he bought the fluid, but denied that he tried to force his wife to drink it.

Will Be Buried in Arlington.

Military honors will mark the funeral of Louis Johnson, a veteran of the Spanish-American and Philippine wars, to-morrow. Interment will be in Arlington Cemetery. Mr. Johnson, who was a Dane, had no relatives in this country, and the funeral arrangements are in charge of Capt. J. Walter Mitchell. He was forty-five years old, and had been a watchman in the State, War, and Navy Department building for a number of years. He had a commendable record for bravery both in Cuba and the Philippines.
